RESERVE ZINFANDEL

LODI ~ v.2015

For over two decades, Bogle has sought out head trained and dry farmed old vine Zinfandel from plantings across the region. This year's selection, from one of our grower partners in Lodi, comes from vines that are 54 years old. After years of working hard, these gnarled old vines produce just a few clusters a piece, each berry bursting with concentration, complexity and flavor.

At first sip, the wine's soft entry seduces, with notes of anise, juniper berry and black licorice building to a ripe mouthfeel of summer plums and dried cranberries. Aged in two-year old American oak for 24 months, the wine leaves firm tannins on the finish, with generous and appealing touches of caramel and molasses.

Though drinkable at any time, this wine will cellar well into the 2020's
